

A Yes, sir, I made an appraisal.

Q On how many occasions did you visit the property?

A I visited the property on two occasions. Due to snow being on the ground I thought it best to go back when snow was not on the ground so I could see a little better what was in the lines of the entire property. I would say about a third of the land is in marshland, and the entire property is grown up in brush and trees, and the building, was supposed to be a barn or shed, and a meat house, they are no longer existing. The whole dwelling is not of any use any more, and the front part of the property is used for a public dump now, and I think my valuation is--

Q You say it is now a dumping ground?

A Part of it. I guess people coming along if they have something, dump it in there.. Then when the new road was put through there some years ago, the County graded up the front part, and the front is no longer frontage - it is too much of a grade. I put a valuation on it of $700.

Filed July 15, 1958